

GO, SLOTH, GO!

ACTIVITY PACK

DISCUSSION QUESTIONS

1. Sloths live in Central and South American rainforests. If an animal fell from a tree in your part of the world, could it be a sloth or would it be something else? What would it be?

---

2. Why do you think the truck driver took the sloth to the clinic?

---

---

---

3. What are some things you should do if you find injured wildlife?

---

---

---

4. Sloths are famous for moving slowly. Do you sometimes move slowly? Why?

---

---

---

5. What are some other animals seen in Go, Sloth, Go?

WHOA, SLOTH, WHOA!

A sloth is slowly making its way up a tree in its rainforest home when the wind knocks it loose and it tumbles onto the road. No, sloth, no! But luckily a truck driver stops, realizing the sloth has hurt its toe, and takes the sloth to the wildlife hospital. Sloth gets an x-ray and then some stitches before it's ready to head home. Let's go, sloth, let's go! Finally, the kindly truck driver rows it out to reunite with its family...though, in true sloth form, it will be rather slow to say goodbye.
